DETAILED ACTION

This Office action is in response to the amendment filed January 20, 2005 in which claim 1 was amended and claims 2-3 were canceled.

The rejection of claims under 103 over EP 1152049 is withdrawn in view of the amendment to claim 1 and Applicant's argument that EP teaches a hydrocarbon in water emulsion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 1 and 4-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 9913031 for the reasons of record.

Applicant argues that Berlowitz does not mention improving particulate emissions by reducing the hydrocarbon particle size. Applicant argues that the data of Examples 1 and 2 and comparative example 1 show that particle size correlates directly to particulate emissions. Applicant argues that Berlowitz never even mentions the words "particle size" and that the examiner has not shown that the knowledge that particle sizes of 1 micron or less improves emissions was generally available to one of skill in the art.

Berlowitz teaches a macroemulsion fuel composition comprising a Fischer-Tropsch fuel/conventional fuel blend. Berlowitz teaches that it is known that the use of aqueous fuel emulsions reduces pollutants such as particulate emissions and NO_x (see page 1, third paragraph and page 5, second full paragraph). While Berlowitz does not specifically mention the particle size of the hydrocarbon, Berlowitz does teach a macroemulsion and it is known in the art that particles in macroemulsions may be as small as 0.2 microns. It is clear that the claimed particle size and that of Berlowitz overlaps.

With respect to Applicant's data, Applicant is comparing an emulsified fuel (present invention) to a fuel that is not emulsified. Berlowitz clearly teaches that emulsified fuels reduce particulate emissions and Applicant has not shown that in an emulsified Fischer-Tropsch/conventional fuel blend that the particle size of the hydrocarbon produces unexpected results.

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

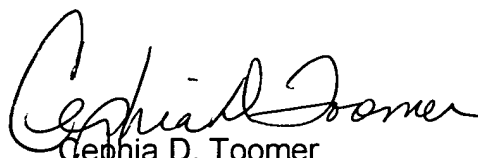

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
